

Machine learning, artificial intelligence, data science, and predictive analytics are more than just buzzwords to us. They are our core business.

Mosaic is a leading data science consulting company focused on helping organizations build and deploy actionable analytics solutions. Our customers are as varied as the techniques we use – some just starting their first predictive analytics project; others with deep in-house machine learning expertise.

Whether you are looking for additional bandwidth to prototype a cutting-edge algorithm or simply want to know what “artificial intelligence” means and if it applies to you, we’ve got you covered. Our world-class team of analytics professionals will work with your business, starting wherever you are now. From quick proof-of-concept (POC) sprints to enterprise-scale AI deployments, we are flexible and focused on efficient delivery of value. We can also “teach your team to fish” with targeted training workshops and strategic consulting.
